

Swiss Housing Projects

The young architecture firm Felix Partners in Zurich is made up of life partners Peter and Rahel Felixohe. He is an architect, she is a designer and marketing planner. The partners core concept is that architecture and design should encompass the entire value chain of a construction project from real estate assessment and project development to financing, marketing and interior design. This extensively illustrated book is not intended as a classic retrospective of their innovative partnership, but as a demonstration of their process oriented approach. Showcasing 13 recent projects both built and not built, the book includes plans, maps, elevations and renderings and features interviews with developers and project residents.
