

Art Spaces: Arnolfini pb

The Art Spaces series is ideal for the first book on the history and development of the Arnolfini in Bristol, one of the leading centers for the contemporary arts. Closed to the public since September 2003 for major expansion and renovation, it reopens in June 2005 with more public space overall and more opportunities to experience the contemporary arts and to participate in a range of creative experimentation. The concise text and fascinating images in this stylish book show all the different stages of the transformation.
