

Courting Saskatchewan: A Celebration of Winter Feasts, Summer Loves and Rising Brookies

David Carpenter captures the poetry of the prairies, confronts the brevity of life and the depression brought on by the long Saskatchewan winter, takes hilarious delight in his own and other peoples foibles, and reflects on the importance of his friends. Carpenters reflections sparkle with insight, like snow under stars on a cold Prairie night. This is a sweet book, as unpretentious as supper in the kitchen.--OTTAWA CITIZEN.
