

Juan OGorman: Casa OGorman 1929

Mexican architect and painter Juan OGorman (1905-82) had a spectacular debut as an architect, designing his own house at the age of 24. On the strength of this building, Diego Rivera commissioned OGorman to design a pair of studio-houses for himself and Frida Kahlo on contiguous lots, connected by a bridge. But OGorman was somewhat forgotten in histories of modern architecture, until the restoration of Riveras and Kahlos house in the late 1990s led to a rediscovery of the architects work and a reappraisal of his place in contemporary Mexican architecture. In 2013 OGormans own first house, which he began designing in 1929 and completed in 1931, was restored. Uncompromisingly radical and rigorously functional, this design reveals OGorman as a Mexican pioneer of avant-garde architecture. Casa OGorman 1929 tells the story of this unique building and how it was salvaged through beautiful color photographs.
