Martie Preller is a multi-award winning South African author. ENTERING : Teens/Young Adult/Everyone who is young at heart; Fantasy; Action. Amy's Dad tells her that he wants to marry again and although she understands that he is lonely, she cannot accept that her mother is going to be replaced by a stepmother. She runs off to her favourite place on their farm -- a small pine forest. She always goes there to try and sort her feelings. When she enters her forest, she sees a strange dog. She assumes that it has to belong to the neighbours. She holds out her hand and talks to the dog, but to her consternation the dog talks back and it is rather rude. She accepts that she probably imagined a talking dog because she is so upset. She decides to ignore it and then she sees the door -- there is a door in her forest, only a door -- there are no walls. She can walk right around the door. The door has a knocker. She may have lost her mind. She decides to knock and starts hammering on the door. A very irritable red piglet opens the door and wants to know if she is there for the Ball. And so Amy enters the world of the Fairy Tales. Initially Amy is quite pleased because her mother has read all these stories to her when she was small, thus she knows exactly what is going to happen, but unfortunately there is an evil Stepmother who dislikes her and wants to get rid of her . . .
