

The Temple of Muktesvara at Caudadanapura: A Little-Known 12Th-13th Century Temple in Dharwar District, Karnataka (Kalasamalocana)

The northern part of Karnataka is one of the richest areas of India in monuments of great artistic value, many of which were built in the 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th centuries A.D. The temple of Muktesvara at Caudadanapura is a beautiful representative of the style and high culture of that time. Its history is known to us thanks to a set of seven long inscriptions, composed in literary medieval Kannada, engraved with great care on large steles. The present study contains a historical introduction, the complete edition, translation and interpretation of the inscriptions, an architectural description, with a graphic survey, and an iconographical analysis. Includes several illustrations and photos, many of them color.
