

La Dolce Vita

The alluring talents of the Italian-raised travel writer Catherine Fairweather and accomplished young photographer Mark Luscombe-Whyte combine to conjure up the allure of living in one of the worlds most romantic and desired countries. Inviting us into the lives and homes of a diverse selection of people; artists, writers, eccentrics, noblemen, both native and ex-patriate who have chosen to put down roots in all corners of Italy. La Dolce Vita is an intimate look at the lifestyles and tastes of some exceptional people. La Dolce Vita celebrates the rich variety of many architectural and interior styles across the different regions of Italy. Divided into three sections, from Grand Style and Bohemian Chic to Urban Elegance, contrasting settings and lifestyles are celebrated. From the sumptuous baroque splendour of the Prince Belmontes palazzo south of Naples, to the eclectic home of writer, Gore Vidal on the Amalfi Coast; the bohemian rusticity of artists Matthew Spender and Maro Gorkys casa colonica in Tuscany to the elegance of fashion designer Romeo Giglis city apartment in Milan - these are unique glimpses behind the locked doors of cherished residences, revealing the tastes and styles of the hidden interiors of extraordinary homes. The appendix contains practical information about the houses and their location.
