

Works, Vol. 31 (Classic Reprint)

College Library fit nr!t o) fnt PREFACE. IT ought to be matter of surprise how men live in the midst of marvels, without taking heed of their existence. The slightest derangement of their ac customed walks in political or social life shall excite all their wonder, and furnish themes for their dis cussions, for months; while the prodigies that come from above are presented daily to their eyes, and are received without surprise, as things of course. In a certain sense, this may be well enough, inasmuch as all which comes directly from the hands of the Creator may be said so far to exceed the power of human comprehension, as to be beyond comment; but the truth would show us that the cause of this neglect is rather a propensity to dwell on such interests as those over which we have a fancied control, than on those which confessedly transcend our un derstanding. Thus is it ever with men.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and dont occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
