

Terraces and Balconies

Terrasses et balcons font depuis toujours partie integrale de l'architecture. Ils constituent pour ainsi dire un prolongement exterieur du logis. Les terrasses ont generalement un lien direct avec le paysage qui entoure un batiment. Elles peuvent encadrer une vue, notamment au moyen d'auvents ou de parois laterales, elles peuvent reprendre certains elements du paysage a l'echelle de la terrasse, et donc a l'echelle humaine, ou favoriser une autre perception de la nature. Contrairement a la terrasse, le balcon est avant tout une piece rapportee, un element qui incarne la nature du batiment et sa construction. Avec un balcon en prologement exterieur du salon, une maison trouve son couronnement et son point final. Cet ouvrage presente des terrasses et des balcons crees dans le monde entier par des architectes et designers de renom, qui se distinguent par leur grande originalite ou concilient avec succes esthetique et fonctionnalite.
