

Works, Vol. 29 (Classic Reprint)

College j Librax y 1400 PREFACE. THE reader of this book will very naturally be dis posed to ask the question, why the geographies, histo ries, and other works of a similar character, have never made any mention of the regions and events that compose its subject The answer is obvious enough, and ought to satisfy every mind, however inquiring. The fact is, that the authors of the different works to which there is any allusion, most probably never heard there were any such places as the Reef, Rancocus I sland, Vulcan s Peak, the Crater, and the other islands of which so much is said in our pages. In other words, they knew nothing about them. We shall very freely admit that, under ordinary circumstances, it would be prima facie evidence against the existence of any spot on the face of this earth, that the geographies took no notice of it It will (iii) .(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and dont occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
