

The Golden Age of Golf Design

The years between 1910 and 1937 will always be known as the golden age of golf design. The reason is because many of the greatest course architects in the history of the game were all at work during this era, and a number of Americas most famous layouts were created. Geoff Shackelfords The Golden Age of Golf Design is an insightful analysis of those revered courses and the talented men that designed them. The list of architects working during the Golden Age is a Who's Who of golf including Ross, MacKenzie, Tillinghast, Crump, Raynor and Wilson. Incredibly, the layouts they built back then often with only bare hands and horses to do the work annually make up the majority of today's Top 100 Courses in America.
