

Resort Houses

The home away from home must be flexible, ready to accommodate any number of uses at any time. Here, an international sampling of resort houses shows the very best ideas in the field. These houses give the feeling of getting away from it all while concealing the comforts and conveniences that are inevitably needed—a home office, for example. Color photographs, floor plans, and sketches, plus documentation, construction details, listings of materials and finishes inside and out, and technical commentary by the architects mean Resort Houses will always be a design professionals first resort.
